GENEVA, Oct. 11—It was reported without confirmation here this afternoon that the British are prepared to support a movement to withdraw all ambassadors and ministers from Rome, leaving only charges d'affaires at embassies and legations there.

It was stated, however, the British are unwilling to propose such action, and apparently are awaiting a suggestion along these lines from some other quarter.

LONDON, Oct. 11—The British parliament will be summoned for October 22, one week earlier than had been scheduled, because of the gravity of the international situation and the importance of decisions being taken daily at Geneva.

GENEVA, Oct. 11—The "general staff" of the League of Nations machinery to apply sanctions against Italy today adopted an arms embargo against Italy, naming a ban on the same weapons listed under the Roosevelt embargo proclamation.

Half of the population, mostly women, have been sent to the surrounding hills.

BRITAIN'S "RING OF STEEL" MENACES ITALY

This map of the Mediterranean area shows how Great Britain's warships, submarines and other fighting craft have been placed at strategic positions in the Mediterranean, affording a real menace to movements of the Italian fleet. Note how the Red sea and the Suez canal are under heavy guard. Britain assuredly has made a "Ring of Steel" in the troubled area.

IL DUCE HITS LEAGUE'S ACT

Forms War Board to Set Prices, Do Other Jobs; Warns Against Blockade

ROME, Oct. 11—Striking with the same swift decisiveness on the economic front as on the battlefield, Premier Benito Mussolini today mustered the industrial and commodity resources of Italy for a fight to the finish against the financial and economic legions of 50 nations.

Within a few hours after the League of Nations set up a commission to small Italy's African campaign with the weapons of hunger and want, Il Duce issued a sweeping decree nationalizing war industries, providing for dictatorial powers to control prices, and mobilizing all workers.

The official gazette today published the order creating an industrial war board—Mussolini's "general staff" for the campaign against the League of Nations.

This board will fix prices, direct civil mobilization, control wartime

Rumor Possible Peace Settlement

It is being hinted in Ethiopian circles that Emperor Haile Selassie would agree to the cession of Aduwa and part or the whole of Tigre province in a peace settlement with Italy. Possession of Tigre province, of which Aduwa is the chief city, would give the Italians a firm foothold on the Ethiopian plateau, making possible future Italian encroachments towards the south. The Italians now occupy 1,300 square miles of Agame and Tigre provinces. The above map illustrates the possible peace settlement.

Sherrill Recommends Welfare Problem Trade

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—A trade in functions and expenses between Pickaway-co and the state was proposed today by the Ohio Government Survey as a possible solution for some of the state's welfare problems.

In a supplementary report, the Sherrill committee recommended that in exchange for the counties paying one fourth of the total cost of old age pensions, the state should take over the support of county homes and care of feeble minded.

The report asserts that while "little or no additional financial burden on the counties," would result, this exchange would prevent "loss and wasteful administration of the pension law and aid in assuring a proper measure of administrative freedom and authority to local officials."

The total net cost to all the

FLAMES RAZE FRAME HOME; LOSS $1,000

Residence of Joseph Carpenter Burns to Ground; Stove Blamed.

FURNITURE IS LOST

Fruit, Potatoes, Winter Supply, Destroyed, too.

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated cook stove, completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carpenter, in a field east of the Washington-st extension Thursday night.

The loss was estimated at $1,000. Firemen were unable to reach the blaze and only a few pieces of furniture were saved. The home was built just a year ago.

Neither Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, nor their two sons, Pearl, 18, nor Joseph, 16, were at home at the time the fire started. The parents were walking into the city to deliver vegetables and their sons had left for Pickaway-twp to cut corn by moonlight.

Discovered by Trio

The blaze was discovered by Alonzo Starkey, Logan-st, and two of his employees, William Jones and Gale Tigner. Mr. Starkey at first believed someone was flashing a light in a window but soon discovered the light was caused by flames.

The men ran through a field to the residence and with the help of other neighbors took out a few pieces of furniture before the flames made it impossible to enter the home.

Firemen said it would have been impossible to take the heavy truck over the road extending from the Washington-st extension, east to the home. They explained it would have been impossible to have reached the blaze with a hose line and the water supply on the truck would have had little effect on the blaze.

Mr. Carpenter constructed the home last fall shortly after purchasing two acres of land. It was a one story building and not fully completed. It contained two large rooms in which partitions were to be built this fall. Mr. Carpenter reported he had the lumber cut for the residence at an expense of $500.

All Fruit Ruined

This summer Mrs. Carpenter had canned about 1000 cans of fruit and vegetables for the family's winter food supply and 40 bushels of potatoes were stored in the basement. All was destroyed.

The family moved to Circleville last February from Allensville, Vinton-co. Mr. Carpenter had been employed on a farm work. The property and furnishings were not insured, Mr. Carpenter said.

ZENGE TO FACE FRIEND'S STORY

"CHICAGO, Oct. 11—"I didn't mean to kill the fellow. "If they'd handled it right at the hospital he wouldn't have died."

So Mandeville W. Zenge, on trial for his life for the brutal mutilation and murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, told his first wife, and so the pal, William Leinert, a taxi cab driver, will tell the jury today, Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty has promised.

Second only to the testimony of pretty Louise Schaffer Bauer, childhood sweetheart of Zenge who was wooed and won by the Cleveland chemist and wedded to him but three days before her scheduled marriage to the dour, 26-year-old Missouri farm boy, will be the testimony of Leinert.

Leinert's testimony, as outlined by Prosecutor Dougherty, will be the story of a farm boy effecting his own downfall by naively confiding in a stranger the facts on which his very life depended.

Democratic legislative leaders informed International News Service today.

The 23 members of the finance group of the House, working day and night on a revised budget measure designed to give Ohio State enough money to remain open through the school year and repair damage to other institutions and departments caused by Davey's $8,800,000 vetoes in the original budget bill, are determined to increase appropriations at least $1,000,000, it was learned today.

Creamed Cabbage
One small head of cabbage; one cup milk; one teaspoon of flour; one half teaspoon salt; one half teaspoon sugar; one tablespoon butter; one fourth teaspoon pepper. Boil the cabbage, broken in small pieces in enough water to cover, for one half hour. Drain. Add the milk which has been thickened with the flour; let boil, then add other ingredients. Serve very hot. Enough for four or five.

Cabbage and Tomatoes

Two Autumn Desserts For Little Money

You'll enjoy this prune torte all the more knowing of its nutritional values for what prunes do for the blood stream is well worth talking about. The rich supply of iron which they contain works with the copper which is also present to build red blood corpuscles. A short time ago there were some anemic people who realized the values of prunes in this respect, but hesitated to eat them because they considered them as "acid" food. Scientific research has proved this "acid" idea to be false. Prunes have no effect on the alkalinity of the blood stream.

Prune Torte

One cup cooked prunes; rich biscuit dough (basis three and one half cups flour); three fourths cup brown sugar (packed down); one teaspoon cinnamon; three table-spoons of cinnamon; three table-spoons shortening; two table-spoons cream.

Pit the prunes and slice. Roll biscuit dough about one fourth inch thick. Place one half in bottom of greased baking pan. Spread with melted shortening and sprinkle half the sugar over dough, place prunes in a layer over sugar, sprinkle with cinnamon, and cover with remaining dough. Add cream to remaining sugar, mix, and pour over top. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., for thirty minutes. Serve with cream or top milk. Serves six.

Prune Cobbler

Two cups cooked prunes; two medium sized cooking apples; one teaspoon allspice; two tablespoons butter; two thirds cup brown sugar, and prune liquid, and heat to boiling. Pour into baking pan and cover top with strips of pastry. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., twenty-five to thirty minutes. Serve with cream or top milk. Serves six.

CHICKEN SOUFFLE

Five tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; one half teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; one cup milk; one half teaspoon chopped onion; one cup chicken stock, or one cup water and two bouillon cubes (chicken flavor); one cup finely cut cooked chicken; two tablespoons chopped parsley; thick and lemon-colored; three egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Combine tapioca, salt, pepper, onion, milk, and stock in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow three to five minutes) and cook five minutes, stirring frequently. Add chicken and parsley. Remove from boiling water; let cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven, 350 deg. F., fifty to sixty minutes, or until souffle is firm. Serves six.

CURRY SAUCE FOR RICE AND SEA FOOD

So many times left over boiled rice may be turned into an effective and delicious supper or dinner dish if you mix it with a well seasoned curry sauce, and use both together on fresh boiled shrimp, or left over cooked chicken.

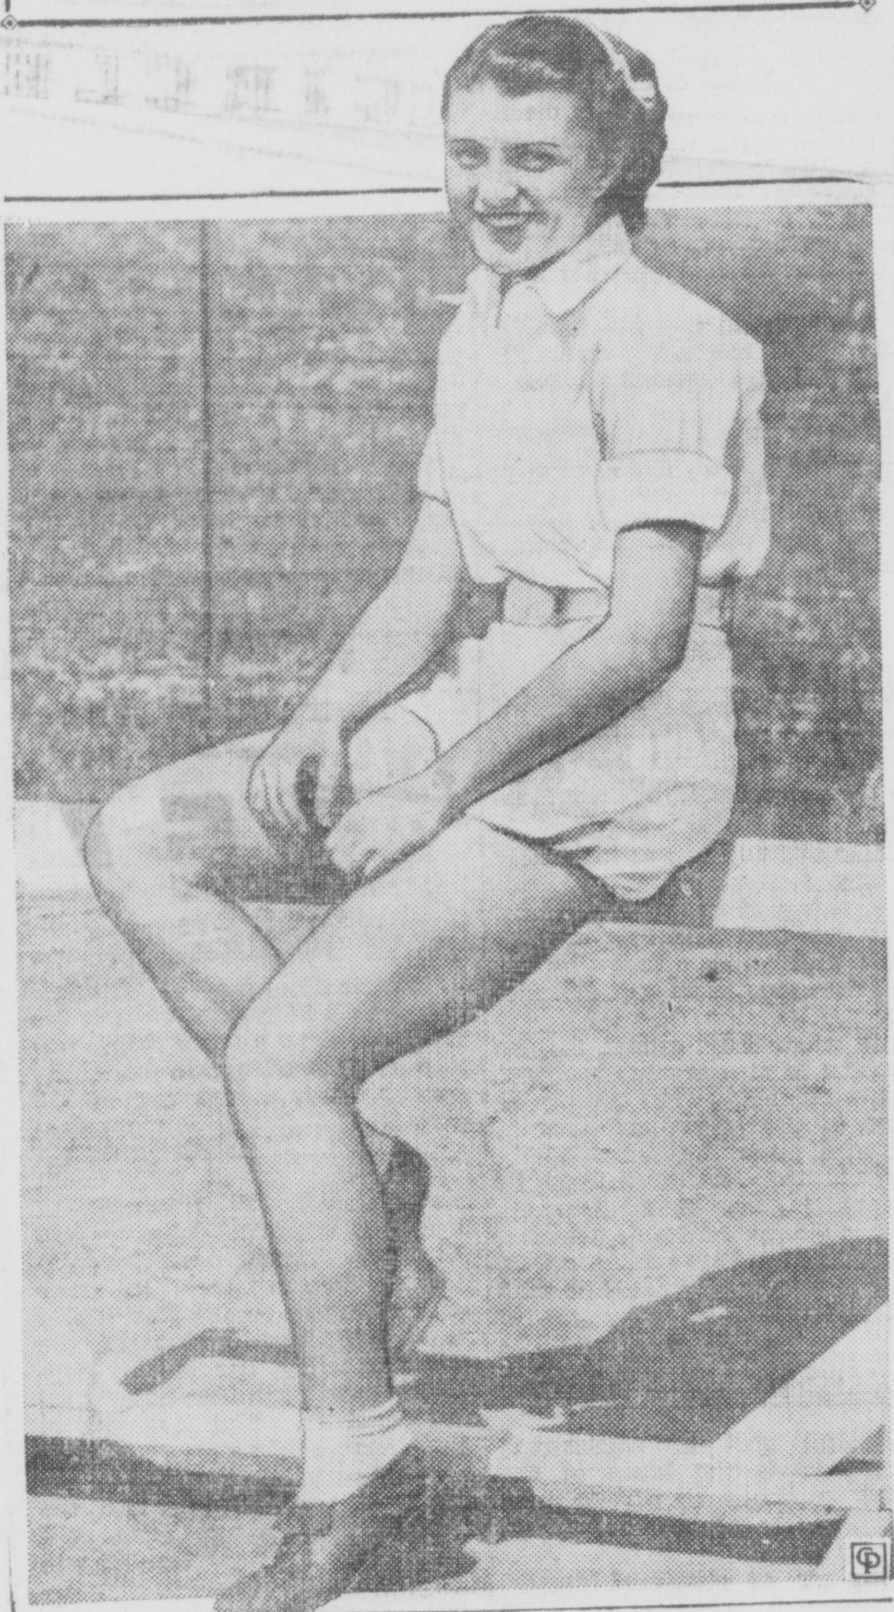

Here is the sauce:
Two tablespoons butter; two slices onion; two slices green pepper; one and one half teaspoons curry powder; two tablespoons flour; two cups milk; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one egg yolk; one teaspoon horseradish.

Melt the butter and cook the onion and green pepper in it. Blend this into a second mixture consisting of the curry powder mixed with the flour and slowly mixed with the milk. When smooth and thick, cook in a double boiler add salt and pepper. Just before pouring over rice and sea food, blend in the beaten yolk of one egg, and the horseradish.

Being a gentleman is simple. You just do that right thing when there's no power to make you do it.

The title of No. 1 girl athletic beauty, conceded for the last several years to Eleanor Holm, Seattle swimmer, seems to be a subject for dispute now that 16-year-old Harriet La Mertha, above, freshman track star at University of Missouri, is in the sports picture. Besides being easy to look at, Harriet is an 80-meter hurdle star, an All-American basketball player and a hard hitter in the game of softball. She is from St. Louis, and her sorority, Phi Mu, has nominated her for honor of selection as Missouri's most beautiful co-ed.

The sharp tang in the air that heralds approaching winter whets appetites for servings perked with ginger, cinnamon and other fragrant spices. The pumpkin pie and gingerbread season is with us. When melted, remove from the stove, add salt and minced ginger. Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze to a mush. Then beat the egg whites until stiff. Stir the fruit mixture and fold into the beaten egg whites. Return to the refrigerator tray and continue freezing, stirring once when the mallowbet has again frozen to a mush.

About This And That In Many Sports

THREE REGULARS OUT

When Francis Schmidt doesn't like the way one athlete performs all he has to do is reach into a hat and pull out what he wants. Neither Hamrick, Fisch nor Inwood Smith are to be used in the starting lineup against Drake because of injuries and their failure to play up to snuff against Kentucky, so the Buck magician is going to use three other ball players.

PRESS AGENT BUSY

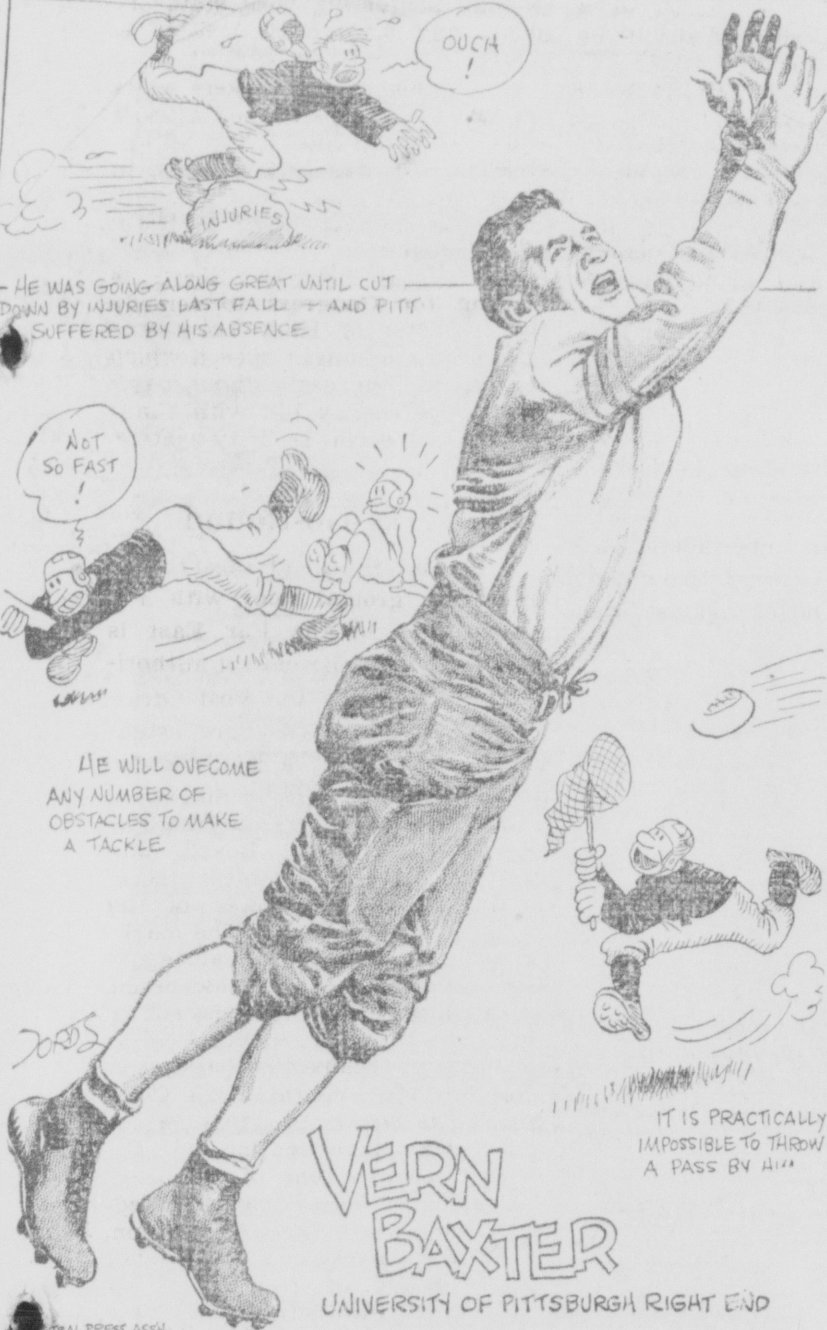

Drake university's press agent has been grinding out a lot of stuff this week, pepping up everyone about the Drake-Ohio game — I'll probably take a lot more than press agent stuff to get Drake enough points to defeat the Bucks, who are mad because of their showing against the Kentucky team.

MAY PLAY IN MUD

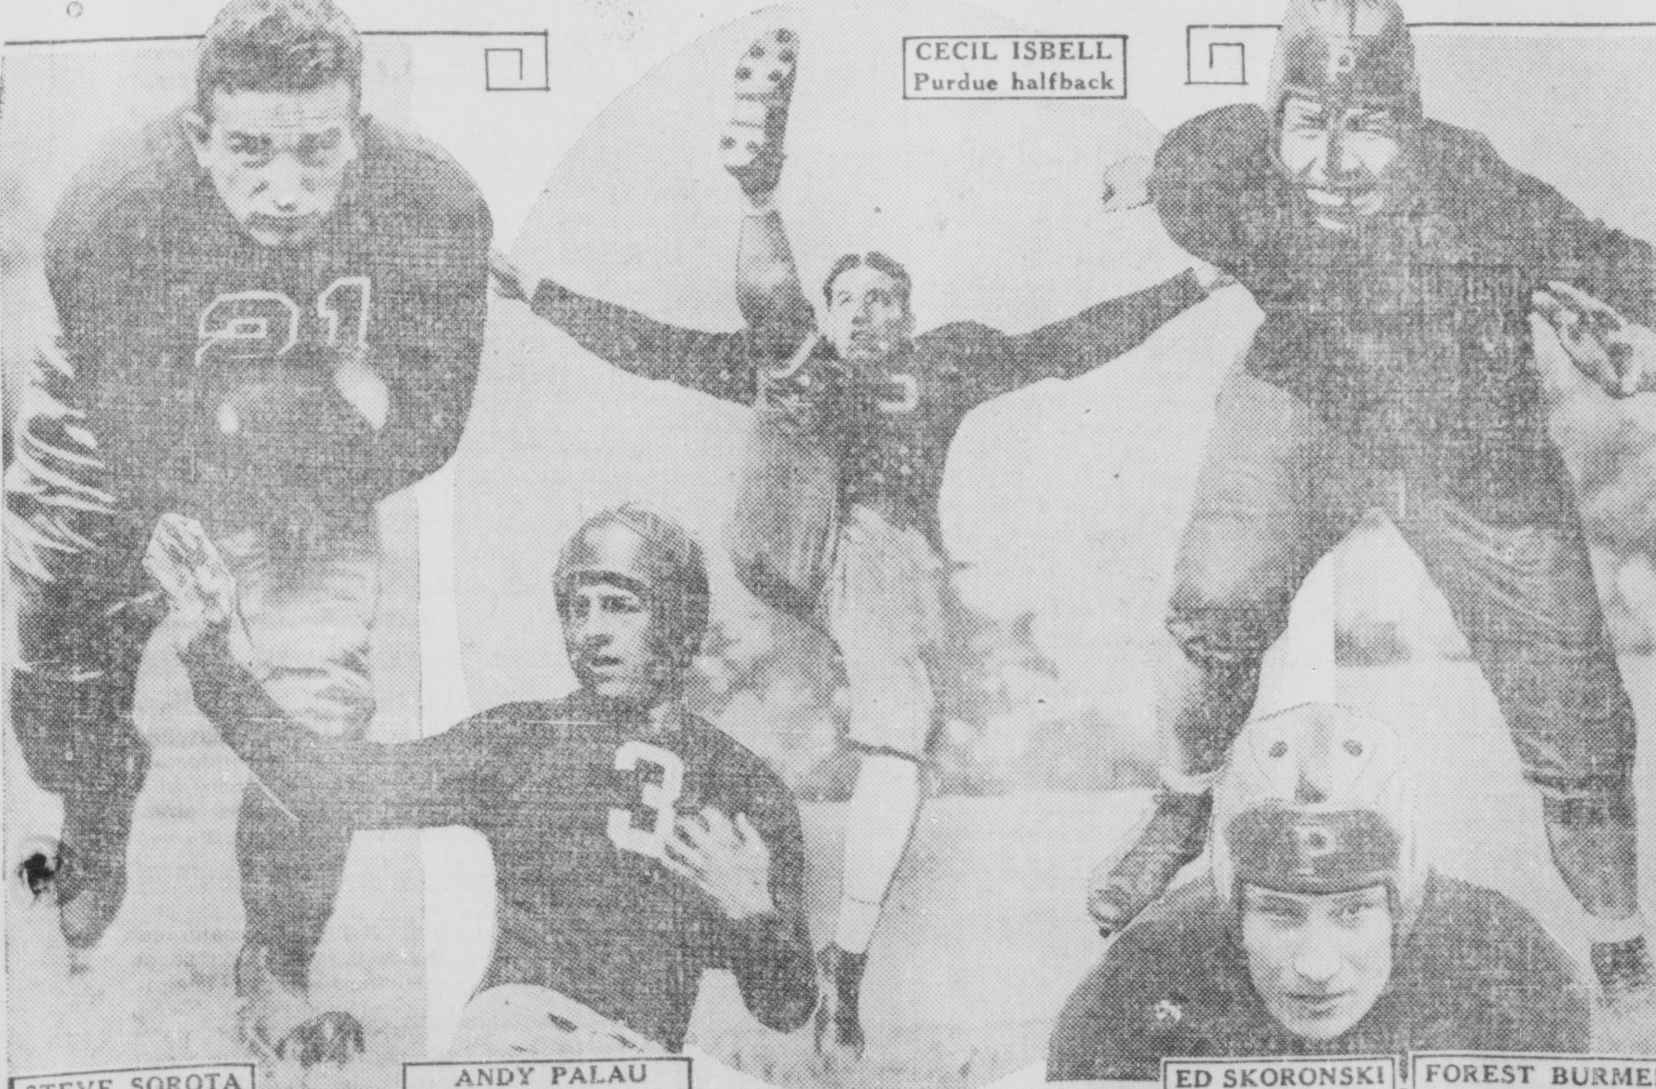

Unless Delaware is a drier town than Circleville today, the Tigers are destined to play in mud this afternoon in the college town. Coach Landrum's boys looked pretty good in their final drill Thursday evening and expect to give the Delaware athletes a real battle. The backfield of Friley, Griffith, Jenkins and Rader is set with the ends to be Melson and Jackson, the tackles Weaver and Good, the guards Adkins and Garner, and the center probably Weldon.

RAMS AND BOILERMAKERS MEET IN INTERSECTIONAL BATTLE OCT. 12

In one of the major intersectional games of Oct. 12, Coach Noble Kizer's Purdue Boilermakers meet the Fordham university Rams, coached by "Sleepy Jim" Crowley. Both coaches are former Notre Dame players, adding a touch of rivalry to the clash, in New York.

SCHMIDT SAYS OHIO LINEUP IS UNCERTAIN

Uses Two Backfields in Practice Sessions for Drake University Fray

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—The starting Ohio State lineup against Drake when the two teams clash tomorrow in Ohio stadium today was still a deep mystery to ardent followers of the Buckeyes.

Coach Francis Schmidt continued his juggling act and during yesterday's lengthy practice several backfield combinations were employed with one group having as much chance of opening the Drake encounter as the next contingent of Buck backfield men.

Frank Antenucci was given a thorough trial at fullback with Jumping Joe Williams and Dick Beltz at halfbacks and Tippy Dye calling the signals.

Another Quartet
Another backfield quartet was composed of Stanley Pincura at quarterback, Dick Heckin and John Bettridge at halfbacks, and John Kabealo at fullback.

Two regular Buckeye linemen, Charley Hamrick, huge 245-pound tackle, and Guard Inwood Smith will likely be out of the Ohio starting wall against the Iowans. Hamrick has a leg injury while Smith is nursing a bruised shoulder.

Gil Harre, regular right tackle, has been moved to the left side of the wall to replace Hamrick while Ernie Roush has been accorded the right tackle berth. Gus Karnas, Youngstown sophomore, will take Smith's place at right guard.

The rest of the Ohio line will be the same which started against Kentucky in the opener. The Drake team arrived in Capital City by Jack Sords.

DRAKE READY FOR BUCKEYE CONTEST

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11—Tapering off with a final scrimmage before leaving for Columbus, Ohio, the Bulldogs appear in excellent condition, with the exception of Jimmy Eell's knee injury. Hope for a victory does not seem impossible to the Drake gridders, as they have shown tremendous strength in the last two games, scoring 67 points, seven more than they scored during the entire 1934 season.

The main Bulldog hope is carried by their aerial attack which has clicked in the last two games. On the other hand they must bottle up the Buckeyes and their aerial circus which earned national fame last year and has stamped them as the best team in the nation this year.

Leaving here Thursday morning at 11:30 the team traveled to Boone, Iowa, by bus. From there they traveled by train to Columbus, where they arrived in time for breakfast Friday morning. Friday afternoon they go through a light work-out on the Buckeye stadium.

U. S. TO ENGAGE IN BERLIN MEET

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—The United States may or may not be a safe bet to win the next Olympic but it is at least an absolutely sure bet to have a team at Berlin trying to win.

This much was assured today by one of the banking officials of the A.A.U. who said his organization at its annual meeting in December will vote overwhelmingly to send a team to Germany and any and all find them not only indifferent about conditions abroad but absolutely cold to any suggestion of boycotting the Olympics.

A resolution calling on the United States to boycott the Olympics will surely come up at the meeting here Dec. 6 but it will be just as surely tabled.

RUNYAN LEADS IN LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 11—Cupping a 160-yard approach on the 16th hole for an eagle 2, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., led the field in the $5,000 Louisville open golf tournament here today with a 67, four under par.

Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., combined rounds of 33 and 35 for a 68 and second place. Trailing him by one stroke were Teri Johnson of Winter Haven, Fla., and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.

Richard Burton of the English Ryder cup team played a 70, while four of his mates, J. J. Bussan, W. V. Cox, A. F. Padgham, and E. G. Jarmon each carded 75's.

Yesterday's low sixty and ties are qualified for another 18-hole round Saturday. The remainder of the field will play their first round today.

MIKE LAYDEN HURT

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 11—A squad of forty-four left here today for Janesville, Wis., where the Irish will workout this afternoon and stay tonight, proceeding to Madison and their battle with Wisconsin tomorrow morning. Mike Layden, injured halfback and brother of Coach Elmer Layden, will make the trip but there is no possibility of his playing, trainers reported.

MAGIC IS COLGATE GIFT TO GRIDIRON

Andy Kerr's Deceptive Red Raiders One of Season's Most Interesting Teams to Watch

COACHED BY Andy Kerr, the gridiron's most prominent magician, Colgate university's Red Raiders promise mystery exploits this year that will call for a whole lot of Sherlocking by Mr. Kerr's colleagues in the noble profession of football character building.

Not only has Colgate mastered the trick of lateral passes, including jobs in the fourth dimension, but the club has been coached in to a smoothly co-ordinated unit, with the baffling precision of a slot machine.

Fans Got Kick Out of It

Though some exponents of brute strength, such as possessed by Pitt's pounding Panthers, are given to scoffing at the intricate sequence of laterals devised by Kerr, the fact remains that the game of "pitch and catch" is spreading throughout the west, and it has become a hair-raising part of the grid spectacle. Coaches of teams that meet Colgate find the Kerr rigmarole a nightmare that upsets their best laid plans. The fans go for it, and that, after all, seems to answer the question of whether or not the Kerr fashion will catch on. It is attractive football.

Characters in the Colgate cast this year include some of the best backs in the east, such wholesome young men as Kern, Offenhamer, Irwin and Vadas, with capable understudies. Irwin, 200-pound fullback, is being watched by all-American selectors. Vadas, 200-pound running back, is being watched by all-American selectors. Vadas, 200-pound running back, is being watched by all-American selectors.

Though there are doubts here and there in the line, Colgate is strong at guard and tackle on both sides of the forward wall. Captain Charlie Wasieck, through whose position yardage gained by opponents last year was measured by inches, is in there again. At the other tackle, where Brooke used to contribute to the despondency of enemy linemen, is a 200-pound sophomore named Chesbro. The guards are Fortmann, one of the best in the east, and Davidson, great defensive man.

Billings and Wojack at ends and Pillsbury at center round out a team that observers expect to duplicate the performance of the noted "unbeaten, untied and uninvited" eleven of 1932, most successful eleven in the east that year, though Pitt received the bid to the Rose Bowl.

In Colgate first three games this year, the Red Raiders rolled up 73 points to none for Niagara, St. Lawrence and Amherst, and looked hopefully to the intersectional battle Oct. 12 against University of Iowa at Iowa City.

SOPH STAR ELIGIBLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 11—The Minnesota Gophers, thirty-seven strong, left here last night for Omaha where they will workout today before going on to Lincoln where they will meet a formidable Nebraska team tomorrow. Coach Bernie Bierman, who is frankly pessimistic over Minnesota's chances of whipping the Cornhuskers, received a bit of good news when Victor Spadaccini, brilliant sophomore fullback, was declared eligible and allowed to join the squad.

Scoff at Reports State to Close for Rest of Year

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—Circulation of highly fantastic stories throughout the Big Ten circuit to the effect that Ohio State university is on the verge of shutting down for lack of funds, thereby making probable the suspension of O. S. U. football activities in mid-season, today brought smiles to the lips of those persons here familiar with the real facts.

Bitter hostilities between Gov. Martin L. Davey and President George W. Rightmire of the big state school growing out of an executive veto, some months ago of $1,266,500 in the biennial budget of $7,155,600 allowed by the legislature, were used as the flimsy basis for the "scare" stories.

Davey lopped off certain essential items, such as the allowance for coal to heat the university, under the impression funds could be transferred from other budget items for these purposes but found the law forbade it.

Ohio State is reported to have only enough fuel to last 10 days, but the legislature is meeting in special session at the moment and only last night new allowances for essentials were written into a new appropriation bill by the finance committee.

IOWA BRUSHING UP

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 11—A light workout with a brush-up on Colgate's vaunted lateral attack will complete Iowa's preparations for tomorrow's game with the Red Raiders here. Dick Crayne, who suffered a bruised foot in scrimmage early in the week, will be available tomorrow, team physicians said. The easterners will work out on the Coe college field at Cedar Rapids tonight, and will not appear here until shortly before game time.

Veteran Turns Pro

Elizabeth Ryan
After a quarter of a century of playing tennis for fun, Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, international tennis star, is turning professional. She will teach the game "for cash wages" on a chain circuit which includes a half dozen fashionable villages on the outskirts of Los Angeles.

TERRY NOW AFTER PHILLIES' CAMILLI

CHICAGO, Oct. 11—Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants was ready today to dicker with the Phillies for Adolf Macilli.

Seeking a successor for himself at first base, Terry declared here last night that the deal for Jim Collins of the Cardinals is off. Manager Bill said he had turned down Branch Rickey's offer of Collins for Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell.

It pays to buy in quantity, so if they charged for parking your car as they do for parking your hat, it would cost you $2,600.

Industrial recovery now seems so certain that far-sighted pessimists already are looking around for something else to worry about.

BROTHERHOOD HAS MEETING

Varied Program Presented By Lutheran Group; Next Meeting Oct. 31

The regular monthly meeting of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was held Thursday evening in the parish house.

Meeting was opened with singing of hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", after which Rev. C. L. Troutman read the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, this being followed by the singing of another hymn, "My Faith Looks up to Thee."

The regular business session followed, after which Rev. Troutman talked on the progress of the Good Will Congressional meeting to be held on Nov. 6 and that the Ladies Society and Von Bora society will serve the banquet, the expense of which will be covered with a free will offering to be taken at that time.

J. D. Hummel will act as toastmaster of the occasion and Rev. William Sadt, stewardship secretary of the American Lutheran church, will be the principal speaker. During the session the church budget for the year 1936 will be explained and subscriptions taken.

To cover the membership not in attendance on this occasion, an every member canvass will be held during the week following.

It was learned recently that the president of the organization, George C. Colville, treasurer of the Pumpkin Show society, who gave an interesting talk on the coming show, explaining in detail the progress of the show. After completion of his talk, the meeting was thrown open for discussion. Mr. Colville had his subject so well in hand that he had no hesitancy in answering the many questions asked.

Carl C. Leist was next introduced and inspiring sang, "In the Gloaming", accompanied being played by Carl Palm.

Ned Dresbach, the local representative to the Scioto Valley Lutheran Convention to be held next Sunday at Groveport, gave the paper that he will present on that occasion on "Is it Hard to Be a Christian?"

Pres. Harry Bartholomew was next on the program and with his stunt on "Observation" proved to the entire audience that generally we are very poor observers.

The first regular meeting of November will be moved up to Oct. 31st, owing to the fact that the congregational banquet will fall during the regular week for brotherhood, with George C. Griffith in charge of the program that will pertain to Halloween.

At this meeting the first reading of nominees for office for year 1936 will be read.

The collection of "Lost and Found" at Walnut is a mute testimony to the carelessness of pupils. From the great number of articles unclaimed, one wonders if they might even have forgotten they lost them.

Here we find: hairbands, glass tubes, keys, thimbles, handkerchiefs, mirrors, buttons, marbles, compact, pencils, pens, penholders, pencil sharpeners, nails, taps, screws, buckles, anklets, gloves, beads, breastpins, bracelets, rings, necklaces, earrings, hairpins, tie pins, tie clasps, hat pins, coat hangers, etc. Some good, some worthless but all should be reclaimed within a certain reasonable time or the ownership of them be forfeited. This would give an opportunity to clear up the rubbish and put those of value back into use.

A new book has been added to the library this week "Lucy Gayhart" written by Willa Cathen.

DAVEY'S VETO

From the office of the governor came an unofficial warning today that Davey will not permit increases to mount over the $500,000 mark at the most. John M. Caren, Davey's executive secretary, was busy conferring with Rep. Julian H. Schweller (D) of Port Jennings, chairman of the finance committee and other Democratic members of the group, presumably cautioning administration supporters against making too many increases.

The warnings of the governor, anxious to retain at least $8,000,000 of the vetoes in the original appropriations, failed to deter committee members from adding a few thousand to the state university and possibly other state colleges, the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia and the state utility commission.

Several loyal Davey backers are expected to vote against the new budget bill when it is completed in committee, but there are sufficient votes among the 23 members to assure its passage in committee, observers found.

Republican members of the House indicated they would vote for the new measure, now only in tentative form, when it comes to the floor of the House. In addition, there are sufficient Democratic members willing to support the measure to guarantee sufficient votes for a three-fifths majority in the event Davey should disapprove the bill, several Democratic members predicted.

Rep. Robert Kaser (D), Sidney, urged an increase to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home and Rep. E. R. Wing (R) of McArthur, insisted on an increase of $33,000 to the state utilities commission to permit a state-wide survey of rural electrification needs.

Bowling Green, Kent, Miami and Ohio universities may get small increases under the new measure, Rep. Otis R. Johnson (R) Delta, chairman of the educational section, intimated.

GIRLS' KILLER YOUTH ADMITS
FOUND SUICIDE GIRL'S DEATH

Pontiac, Mich. Jail Scene
After Farmer Admits
Drowning Stepchildren

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 11—Deciding his own fate with the same cold-bloodedness which characterized the drowning-murders of his two unwanted stepdaughters, Ferrin Rowland, 36, "mate hungry" carpenter-farmer, today hanged himself in his Oakland-co jail cell.

The suicide came only a few minutes before he was to have been arraigned on first degree murder charges for the deaths of Katherine, 6, and Virginia, 2½, daughters of his wife by a former marriage.

It was the second time he had attempted to end his own life. He was restrained from shooting himself when he was captured in St. Louis Wednesday.

Rowland left two notes today, both disposing of property to his brother and his wife who is in jail at Harrison and faces further questioning as the result of being implicated in the plot by Rowland. He apparently had no thought for the two children whom Prosecutor Theodore Bowler declared he drowned "just as if they were unwanted kittens."

Bowler expressed belief Rowland had decided to commit suicide because of the prospect of separation from his wife and incarceration in a jail cell for life. He said "both love the outdoors and the children interfered with their hunting and fishing trips."

industries, maintain rigid control of industrial employment, and provide for training workers to replace those who may be mobilized for military service.

Many of these replacements, it was expected, will be women.

This was Mussolini's first step in the progressive defense he plans against the league's progressive sanctions.

This was the "discipline" part of his policy declaration: "Economic measures we shall meet with discipline and obedience; military sanctions with military measures; and acts of war with acts of war."

Mussolini has consistently said that a naval blockade of Italy would be regarded as "an act of war."

At the same time, Mussolini made it clear that he is determined to go on with his military campaign.

Field Marshall Leaves
This was shown by the departure of Field Marshall Pietro Badoglio for East Africa aboard the steamer Biancamano.

It is believed that Badoglio, who is chief of the Italian army general staff, will make a first hand investigation of the military situation, and report back to Mussolini.

Anger, some surprise, and a few questions of "do they intend to starve us?" summed up the general Italian view of the league's sanctions.

"Italy will not forget those nations that moved against her," La Tribuna warned.

STANWYCK, FAY

ROMANCE ENDS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11—Another of the so-called "ideal romances" of the film colony, apparently was on the rocks today with the verification by Barbara Stanwyck, former Broadway star, now in pictures, of her separation from her husband, Frank Fay.

Milkman's Son Says Monticello Girl Laughed at His Offer of Marriage

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Oct. 11—The brutal garroting of pretty eighteen-year-old, Muriel Hall, Rochester society beauty, was solved here today.

Glenn Brasser, 20, son of a poor Rochester milkman, confessed he killed the girl in her father's apartment on Wednesday when she laughed at his offer of marriage.

His confession came forth a few hours after he was arrested late last night while driving his father's truck through Liberty, N. Y.

He fled from Rochester in the truck immediately after the slaying.

His arrest resulted after he had stopped at a gas station in Liberty and sped away without paying for a tank full of gasoline.

"I couldn't live without her," state troopers quoted Brasser as saying.

"I choked her for ten minutes; then ran out of the house. She refused my offer of marriage. If I couldn't have her, I didn't want anybody else to."

"I was waiting for her in the apartment. When she came home from high school I asked her if she'd be my wife.

"She said she never wanted to see me again and laughed. We had a fearful argument. I got so angry I grabbed her and choked her. As soon as I realized what I had done, I knew I'd have to run away."

State Trooper William Leins, who took Brasser into custody, said the youth was questioned for several hours and that at first he maintained his innocence, but finally broke down and said he would make a complete confession.

MUST BE SEASON

FOR PANHANDLERS

This seems to be the season for panhandlers. Nearly every day a man, usually shabbily-dressed, walks up to you on the street and says: "Buddy, can you give me a little assistance?"; or: "Could you give me a dime for a cup of coffee?"

The panhandlers follow the fairs and the shows, it seems, and those working here are bound for Lancaster this week and next week will be doing a wholesale business in Circleville.

CURRY SAUCE FOR RICE AND SEA FOOD

So many times left over rice may be turned into an appetizing and delicious supper or dinner dish if you mix it with a well seasoned curry sauce, and use both together on fresh boiled shrimp, or left over cooked chicken.

Here is the sauce:

Two tablespoons butter; two slices onion; two slices green pepper; one and one half teaspoons curry powder; two tablespoons flour; two cups milk; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one egg yolk; one teaspoon horseradish.

Melt the butter and cook the onion and green pepper in it. Blend this into a second mixture consisting of the curry powder mixed with the flour and slowly mixed with the milk. When smooth and thick, cook in a double boiler, add salt and pepper. Just before pouring over rice and sea food, blend in the beaten yolk of one egg, and the horseradish.

Being a gentleman is simple. You just do that right thing when there's no power to make you do it.

After devotional services the Trinity society under the direction of Mrs. Ed R. Beck of Lancaster presented the topic of the day, "The Christian Approach to the Jews."

The following gave papers on the topic, Mrs. Mary Ruble, "What Christian Missions Owe the Jews;" Mrs. Agnes Resse, "Jewish Apostles;" Mrs. Leroy Crumley, "Jews

Two Autumn Desserts For Little Money

You'll enjoy this prune torte all the more knowing of its nutritional values for what prunes do for the blood stream is well worth talking about. The rich supply of iron which they contain works with the copper which is also present to build red blood corpuscles. A short time ago there were some anemic people who realized the values of prunes in this respect, but hesitated to eat them because they considered them as "acid" food. Scientific research has proved this "acid" idea to be false. Prunes have no effect on the alkalinity of the blood stream.

Prune Torte

One cup cooked prunes; rich biscuit dough (basis three and one half cups flour); three fourths cup brown sugar (packed down); one teaspoon cinnamon; three table-spoons shortening; two table-spoons cream.

Pit the prunes and slice. Roll biscuit dough about one fourth inch thick. Place one half in bottom of greased baking pan. Spread with melted shortening and sprinkle half the sugar over dough, place prunes in a layer over sugar, sprinkle with cinnamon, and cover with remaining dough. Add cream to remaining sugar, mix, and pour over top. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., for thirty minutes. Serve with cream or top milk. Serves six.

Harriet La Mertha

The title of No. 1 girl athletic beauty, conceded for the last several years to Eleanor Holm, Seattle swimmer, seems to be a subject for dispute now that 16-year-old Harriet La Mertha, above, freshman track star at University of Missouri, is in the sports picture. Besides being easy to look at, Harriet is an 80-meter hurdle star, an All-American basketball player and a hard hitter in the game of softball. She is from St. Louis, and her sorority, Phi Mu, has nominated her for honor of selection as Missouri's most beautiful co-ed.

"LITERACY" TOO EASY

LISTENING to the family radio and observing life by going to the movies have had their effect on old-fashioned literacy. In the belief of Dean Gildersleeve of Barnard College. In her annual report she says of the students under her care:

"Instead of taking things in through the eye and becoming familiar with the aspect of English words, they take them in through the ear, by the radio and the movies. This has a lamentable effect on their spelling and on some other aspects of their writing."

Mothers of present-day Barnard students could, according to the patois of the nineties, be found curled up with a good book. It is quite impossible to take that physical attitude today with movies and radio. The absorption of learning is predigested, taken on the tin one might say. So the quality of spoken English, to say nothing of the written, as observed among students leaves much to be desired. Announcers—some of them—are almost painfully musical and grammatically correct in the spoken word, but the moving picture folks are not at all pedantic that way, at least those who have not had stage training.

The Standard Dictionary informs us that a literate is: (1) A learned or literary person. (2) One who can read and write. It is creditable that Barnard students are only in the latter category, suggests the sort of movie-goer who audibly spells out the words on the screen. Perhaps he does that while reading a book, too. It is not so likely. Barnard girls must be of the first type, of course. It is easier to enjoy oneself at the movies than by being a spiral position at home.

Can Dean Gildersleeve be right, after all?

TERRORISM'S BY-PRODUCTS

THE extent to which individual rights have been suppressed by the German Nazis is emphasized by Dr. Schacht's warning that all lives against minority groups must be engineered exclusively under governmental auspices.

This amounts to saying that the state can be as intolerant, as adictive and as brutal as it wants to, but the individual citizen must have some evidence of emotionalized aggressiveness. What prompted Dr. Schacht's warning undoubtedly was the fact that the Nazi authorities have released forces that already are tending to get beyond control. Having placed approval upon the blood purge as an instrument of national policy, the Hitler regime has discovered a corresponding manifestation of terrorism among its citizens generally.

The unfortunate condition will remain until the German government sets an example of civilized behavior. Official ruthlessness cannot be expected to create individual kindness and human sympathy. Democratic impulses are not a product of the flashing word.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

MASTERING BRIDGE (30)

AN OPENING bid of 1-No Trump, followed by a take-out, and resulting in an unbid slam, either at 30 trumps or in the shifted club, is usually chargeable to the partner making the shift, because he has failed to show his great strength. The following examples will serve to show the part each member of the declaring side should take in reaching the highest safe contract.

Suppose that 1-No Trump has been bid, and that partner holds the following unusual hand:

♠ A K Q 9 8 5 3 ♦ 9 4

♥ K 3 ♣ K 6

The take-out should be 5-Spades. The opening bidder is supposed to hold a minimum of 2½ quick tricks, composed of some of the following honors missing from the above hand: Ace and Q of hearts, A-K-Q of diamonds and Ace and Q of clubs. If the 1-No Trump bidder holds something like the first hand shown below, he must pass. With as good a holding as the second hand shown he will raise to 6-Spades:

♠ 7 6 4 ♦ A Q 6

♥ Q J 9 5 ♣ A 7 2

♠ J 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 6

♥ A 9 5 ♣ A 7 2

The general rule for the 1-No Trump bidder is as follows: Raise to 6, or 6 to 7, upon a minimum of quick tricks in each hand suit. If 5 to 7, if having 1 quick trick in each of two unbid suits and 2 quick tricks in the third unbid suit. If 6 to 7, upon a minimum of 5-Spades take-out to 7-Spades on first hand shown below, but he must not do so upon the second hand.

The Romance Racket

MARIE BLIZARD

READ THIS FIRST:

"Can, parties, pretty clothes and beaux are things unattractive to Carol Kennedy had never desired until she looked into the eyes of Dr. Owen Craig, fiancé of her cousin, Kathy. Kathy is married and has a social prestige above Carol. Carol, an orphan, comes into a car fortune, she suddenly decides to leave her old home in Connecticut and seek freedom and happiness in New York. Isabel Bronson, an old school chum, helps Carol to find proper clothes and takes her to her first cocktail party where she meets Gary Crawford, a gambler. Gary, on a whim, he takes her to a beauty shop from which she emerges as a attractive girl. Knowing nothing of her wealth, he helps her to meet Manfred Morris, theatrical producer, who gives her a part in a Broadway show. But Carol does not care for the theater. At Isabel's wedding she sees Owen Craig again just as their proposed marriage. Kathy calls on Carol to say she is going abroad. Morris sends Carol the script for a new play which she is reading when Owen drops in. Kathy is in Europe and Owen and Carol spend a pleasant evening in her apartment. Owen helps Carol to obtain a temporary job as office nurse with a colleague, Dr. Harding.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 23

THERE MUST have been more of the actress in Carol than she realized for surely she was playing the role of the working girl to its limit and loving it. There was no time now for leisurely breakfasts prepared in the little kitchenette. No time for dallying in the shower and lazy hours until noon sitting in negligee with a book. No more free afternoons to drive out to the country in the little two-seater. Carol ate her breakfast in the drug store, snatching her last bite of toast in time to arrive at the office exactly on the dot of nine, and from then on until after six her days were filled.

Another girl with Carol's means of enjoying herself would have made much of the gorgeous autumn weather and worn her best hat and coat in Dr. Harding's office she did not find dull.

She found the white starched apron-frock she donned when she arrived more glamorous than the silver-sealed creation she had worn in the theater. Where the perfume scent of the theater had passed unnoticed, she wrinkled her nose delicately when she entered the office with its faint odor of antiseptics. She loved the shining whiteness about her. She loved the big, dim waiting room with its ancient magazines and worn leather chairs. She loved the doctor's office, so cleverly designed to give an atmosphere of comfort, of leisure, of quiet.

Each morning, Carol dusted the book-shelves stacked with the worn books, filled the bowls with flowers and arranged the fresh fruit. She noticed the doctor's hand passed over the monogrammed and lipstick-smeared cigarette stubs. Dr. Harding would not allow the maid to touch his office except under Carol's supervision.

Gary was sitting at the wheel of his car, standing at the curb. Carol ran an eager foot to meet him. "You're a lamb and I'm so glad to see you," she told him with her whole face lit.

"Really?" Gary's broad smile made her heart warm. "How glad!" this to her as she climbed in beside him. "Well, I don't know," she said. "Glad enough to kiss me?" Gary's grin rubbed his question of deep meaning.

"I... why... not here?" Carol was embarrassed. "This is as good a place as any I know of," Gary had drawn her to his car. She thought she tried to draw away but she knew she didn't. She closed her eyes when he kissed her and then let her go. Neither of them said anything while he started the car and it glided into the avenue.

Carol and Carol delighted to do the little things. She found plenty to do. The telephone rang incessantly as did the door-bell. Not all the calls were professional. Carol began to learn how demanding is the social life of a prominent physician. His women patients cut him looks, flowers, invitations without end. Carol wondered why Kathy was afraid that life with Owen might not be gay.

She fell on the job of straightening out the old life. She practiced every free moment on the typewriter until she became proficient enough to rewrite the case histories. And she learned to put the patients on the board as Miss Sanford had told her to.

"Dr. Harding's office," she said in that impersonal little voice she saved for answering the telephone.

"May I speak to Miss Kennedy, please?" It was Gary.

"This is she," Carol answered. "Well, Florence Nightingale, look what's happened! I go away for a fishing trip and come back to find my best girl actually turned working girl. Get your hat on, I'll be around at 4:30 for you. There's a party at the Westchester Country club."

"Can't!" Carol answered briefly. "Can't!" he insisted lightly.

She lowered her voice, "I'd like to talk to you, Gary, but I can't because I'm working. I'll be home about 6:30. Call me then, if you like, or the same time tomorrow night if you aren't going to be here tonight. I've got to hang up now."

She was terribly disappointed to find that he didn't say he would call her then. Well, what did she expect? He did say he was going to a party in Westchester but she hadn't seen him in such a long time and she had been lonely.

Carol sighed. What did she have to do to have a good time? Was there something wrong with her that she hadn't seemed to enjoy the people she knew? That work wasn't enough for her? She didn't know, but she was impatient for the answer. She put her little smile back on and hastened on quiet footsteps to answer the demanding door-bell.

The afternoon had seemed long to her, the first since she had come to work for Dr. Harding and she was glad when at last the patients were gone and Dr. Harding had closed the outer door behind him. Dusk was falling earlier now and it was quite dark when she let herself out at seven.

Gary was sitting at the wheel of his car, standing at the curb. Carol ran an eager foot to meet him. "You're a lamb and I'm so glad to see you," she told him with her whole face lit.

"Really?" Gary's broad smile made her heart warm. "How glad!" this to her as she climbed in beside him. "Well, I don't know," she said. "Glad enough to kiss me?" Gary's grin rubbed his question of deep meaning.

"I... why... not here?" Carol was embarrassed. "This is as good a place as any I know of," Gary had drawn her to his car. She thought she tried to draw away but she knew she didn't. She closed her eyes when he kissed her and then let her go. Neither of them said anything while he started the car and it glided into the avenue.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Little Peggy Eames, smiling, original sweetheart of Hal Roach's "Our Gang Comedies," will be in Circleville at the Cliftona Theatre tomorrow while on her way to the west coast, where she is to start on a picture for Paramount early in December.

Peggy, who is now seventeen, is a slight little dark-eyed, dark haired lass, already a veteran of stage and screen. She travels with her mother and confessed that while she likes the stage, she'll be glad to get home to Oliver City, since she's been on tour for two years.

As a child actress, Peggy played with Lionel Barrymore, who she still thinks is one of the grandest people alive. She had a role with Lillian Gish in "The Scarlet Letter" in Von Stroheim's "Wedding March" with Mary Pickford, in "Sparrow" and with the old favorites, Charles Ray and May McAvoy.

It was Peggy, child star of MGM studios, who was chosen to welcome Gary, when she first came to Hollywood. She laughs when she remembers how funny the great actress looked and how shy she was.

Chandelle Colbert is Peggy's favorite actress, and Freddie March has recently supplanted Leslie Howard as her favorite actor.

A picture that promises a carload of thrills and chills is "Air Hawks" featuring Wiley Post, Ralph Bellamy and Tala Birell.

Josephine Hutchinson, who has the feminine lead in the Cosmopolitan production, "The Lamp of China," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Sunday, is afraid of nothing but flowers.

The famous actress believes in astrology and hand-writing analysis, but is skeptical about astrology. She habitually tries to steer clear of all sooth-sayers.

A complete satire, with artificial moonlight streaming down upon it, was created for "The Private Life of Don Juan," Douglas Fairbanks' new London Film starring vehicle, for United Artists release, currently showing at the Circle Theatre.

but Carol thought of that last night inside her, when she was in the pit of her stomach, and it wasn't unpleasant. She thought that she would never be so happy and anything to say again. She knew that and quite that she would be happy. "I don't know if any fish stories," she said it much too late.

Gary's fish stories, camping stories, long and short stories, all of everyone and everything, all of that but he never would think of that kiss or that night. Gary was hit too hard by the fish stories and the probability he would again be hit by them. He was something of a fisherman. He had expected that Gary would keep that moment as he could. He was a fisherman of keen perception and he would not let the situation pass between them from that time on.

Yes, Gary did also, for when he had been home she didn't ask him to go with her. "You don't want to go, Gary. I'm a fisherman and fish these days and I'm leaving early in the morning when I go out."

"You're the whitest girl I've ever met, Gary. I know you have to have a job but why a girl would turn down a good part in a show for a crummy office job I can't figure out."

"I don't know and I like it," she said. "I don't want a crush on the doctor," she started.

Carol was told for the darkness; she could not see the blood rising to her cheeks.

"That's silly," she said, "I haven't a crush on anybody."

"Think it over. Maybe you have one on me."

When he was gone she did think it over. She felt his kiss again. She felt the softness of his cheek against her own, the pressure of his lips on hers. She felt the strong muscles of his arm as he had pressed her to him.

At three o'clock, when she lay in the quiet with awake darkness, she could still feel it and she admitted to herself honestly that she liked it.

The next morning she was sleepy and moved through her duties in a half-dream. She couldn't put the night to the side of her mind. She found herself expecting to hear Gary's voice when the telephone rang.

She didn't expect when she answered the bell that Dr. Craig would be standing there.

"Good morning," he said. "May I see Dr. Harding?"

She might have been an utter stranger. There was no one else there, yet he said not one other word. Carol was equally impersonal when she came to tell him the doctor would see him. Then, with thinning heart, she waited for him to come from the place, hoping there would be no patients, hoping he would ask her whether she liked her job, hoping she would have an opportunity to thank him.

But when the door opened he came not talking to her. He looked at her and passed her without saying a word. She pulled her pen into the ink-well. Was she angry or was she hurt?

Generally speaking, football is the only game in the entire athletic curriculum which is financially profitable. Some of the other sports are heavy drains on the athletic association's treasuries.

Costa Rica, about the size of West Virginia, has the richest variety of flowering plants and ferns of any area of its size in the western hemisphere.

Why Mussolini Can Snap Fingers at Economic Financial Boycott.

WASHINGTON—Confidential cable reports received here indicate that Mussolini was not bluffing when he snapped his fingers at the threat of an economic and financial boycott by the League.

The real fact is that neither boycott is of any immediate threat to Italy.

A financial boycott already has been in force against Italy as far as London and New York money markets are concerned. To offset this, Mussolini has a hoarded war chest of $500,000,000 in gold and about the same amount in foreign securities. He figures this will be enough. And if the war is short it will be.

The economic boycott is even less worrisome for the simple reason that nations always are ready to sell but not buy. Mussolini knew this when he snapped his fingers at the League.

Already his proclamation has proved correct. Switzerland has intimated privately to League authorities that it could not enforce a trade boycott against Italy. Italy is its best market. A boycott would mean cutting off about 75 per cent of Swiss exports and financial ruin to many industries.

Austria, Hungary and even Yugoslavia are in the same fix. The latter country long a bitter enemy now is finding Italy a lucrative market. In need of war supplies, Mussolini has reduced tariff barriers to Yugoslavia and is buying large quantities of wheat, pork, lumber.

Probably these countries will accept the economic boycott in theory, but ignore it in fact.

This is why the British idea of a naval blockade to enforce the boycott makes Mussolini see red. And that is why the French have been so loath to go along with the British on a blockade, except at the price of aid against Germany.

About This And That In Many Sports

THREE REGULARS OUT

When Francis Schmidt doesn't like the way one athlete performs all he has to do is reach into a hat and pull out what he wants. Neither Hamrick, Fish nor Inwood Smith are to be used in the starting lineup against Drake because of injuries and their failure to play up to snuff against Kentucky, so the Buck magician is going to use three other ball players.

PRESS AGENT BUSY

Drake university's press agent has been grinding out a lot of stuff this week, pepping up everyone about the Drake-Ohio game. It'll probably take a lot more than press agent stuff to get Drake enough points to defeat the Bucks, who are mad because of their showing against the Kentucky team.

MAY PLAY IN MD

Unless Delaware is a drier town than Circleville today, the Tigers are destined to play in mud this afternoon in the college town. Coach Landrum's boys looked pretty good in their final drill Thursday evening and expect to give the Delaware athletes a real battle. The backfield of Friley, Griffith, Jenkins and Rader is set with the ends to be Melson and Jackson, the tackles Weaver and Good, the guards Adkins and Garner, and the center probably Weldon.

SCHMIDT SAYS OHIO LINEUP IS UNCERTAIN

Uses Two Backfields in Practice Sessions for Drake University Fray

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—The starting Ohio State lineup against Drake when the two teams clash tomorrow in Ohio stadium today was still a deep mystery to ardent followers of the Buckeyes.

Coach Francis Schmidt continued his juggling act and during yesterday's lengthy practice several backfield combinations were employed with one group having as much chance of opening the Drake encounter as the next contingent of Buck backfield men.

Frank Antenucci was given a thorough trial at fullback with Jumping Joe Williams and Dick Beltz at halfbacks and Tippy Dye calling the signals.

Another Quartet

Another backfield quartet was composed of Stanley Pincura at quarterback, Dick Heekin and John Beltridg at halfbacks, and John Kabealo at fullback.

Two regular Buckeye linemen, Charley Hamrick, huge 245-pound tackle, and Guard Inwood Smith, will likely be out of the Ohio starting wall against the Iowans. Hamrick has a leg injury while Smith is nursing a bruised shoulder.

Gil Harre, regular right tackle, has been moved to the left side of the wall to replace Hamrick while Ernie Roush has been accorded the right tackle berth. Gus Karnas, Youngstown sophomore, will take Smith's place at right guard.

The rest of the Ohio line will be the same which started against Kentucky in the opener.

The Drake team arrived at Capital City.

DRAKE READY FOR BUCKEYE CONTEST

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11—Tapering off with a final scrimmage before leaving for Columbus, Ohio, the Bulldogs appear in excellent condition, with the exception of Jimmy Bell's knee injury. Hope for a victory does not seem impossible to the Drake gridders as they have shown tremendous strength in the last two games, scoring 67 points, seven more than they scored during the entire 1934 season.

The main Bulldog hope is carried by their aerial attack which has clicked in the last two games. On the other hand they must bottle up the Buckeyes and their aerial circus which earned national fame last year and has stamped them as the best team in the nation this year.

Leaving here Thursday morning at 11:30 the team traveled to Boone, Iowa, by bus. From there they traveled by train to Columbus, where they arrived in time for breakfast Friday morning. Friday afternoon they go through a light work-out on the Buckeye stadium.

U. S. TO ENGAGE IN BERLIN MEET

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—The United States may or may not be a safe bet to win the next Olympic but it is at least an absolutely sure bet to have a team at Berlin trying to win.

This much was assured today by one of the banking officials of the A.A.U. who said his organization at its annual meeting in December will vote overwhelmingly to send a team to Germany next year and that they will not only be different about conditions abroad but absolutely cold to any suggestion of boycotting the Olympics.

RUNYAN LEADS IN LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 11—Cupping a 160-yard approach on the 16th hole for an eagle 2, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., led the field in the $5,000 Louisville open golf tournament here today with a 67, four under par.

Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., combined rounds of 33 and 35 for a 68 and second place. Trailing him by one stroke were Teri Johnson of Winter Haven, Fla., and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.

Richard Burton of the English Ryder cup team played a 70, while four of his mates, J. J. Busson, W. V. Cox, A. F. Padgham, and E. G. Jarmon each carded 75's.

Yesterday's low sixty and ties are qualified for another 18-hole round Saturday. The remainder of the field will play their first round today.

MIKE LAYDEN HURT

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 11—A squad of forty-four left here today for Janesville, Wis., where the Irish will workout this afternoon and stay tonight, proceeding to Madison and their battle with Wisconsin tomorrow morning. Mike Layden, injured halfback and brother of Coach Elmer Layden, will make the trip but there is no possibility of his playing, trainers reported.

MAGIC IS COLGATE GIFT TO GRIDIRON

Andy Kerr's Deceptive Red Raiders One of Season's Most Interesting Teams to Watch

COACHED BY Andy Kerr, the gridiron's most prominent magician, Colgate university's Red Raiders promise mystery exploits this year that will call for a whole lot of Sherlocking by Mr. Kerr's colleagues in the noble profession of football character building.

Not only has Colgate mastered the trick of lateral passes, including jobs in the fourth dimension, but the club has been coached into a smoothly coordinated unit, with the baffling precision of a slot machine.

Fans Got Kick Out of It

Though some exponents of brute strength, such as possessed by Pitt's pouncing Panthers, are given to scoffing at the intricate sequence of laterals devised by Kerr, the fact remains that the game of "pitch and catch" is spreading throughout the west, and it has become a hair-raising part of the grid spectacle. Coaches of teams that meet Colgate find the Kerr rigmarole a nightmare that upsets their best laid plans. The fans go for it, and that, after all, seems to answer the question of whether or not the Kerr fashion will catch on. It is attractive football.

Characters in the Colgate cast this year include some of the best backs in the east, such as wholesome young men as Kern, Offenhamer, Irwin and Vadas, with capable understudies. Irwin, 200-pound fullback, is being watched by all American selectors. Yoden doing string sign-off quarter, Jeeger, string soph, is understudying so well that the regular backs have begun to wonder about steady employment. Other talented backs are Lator, Lafferty, Choborda, Fitzpatrick, Wilson, Keller and Andy Kerr, Jr.

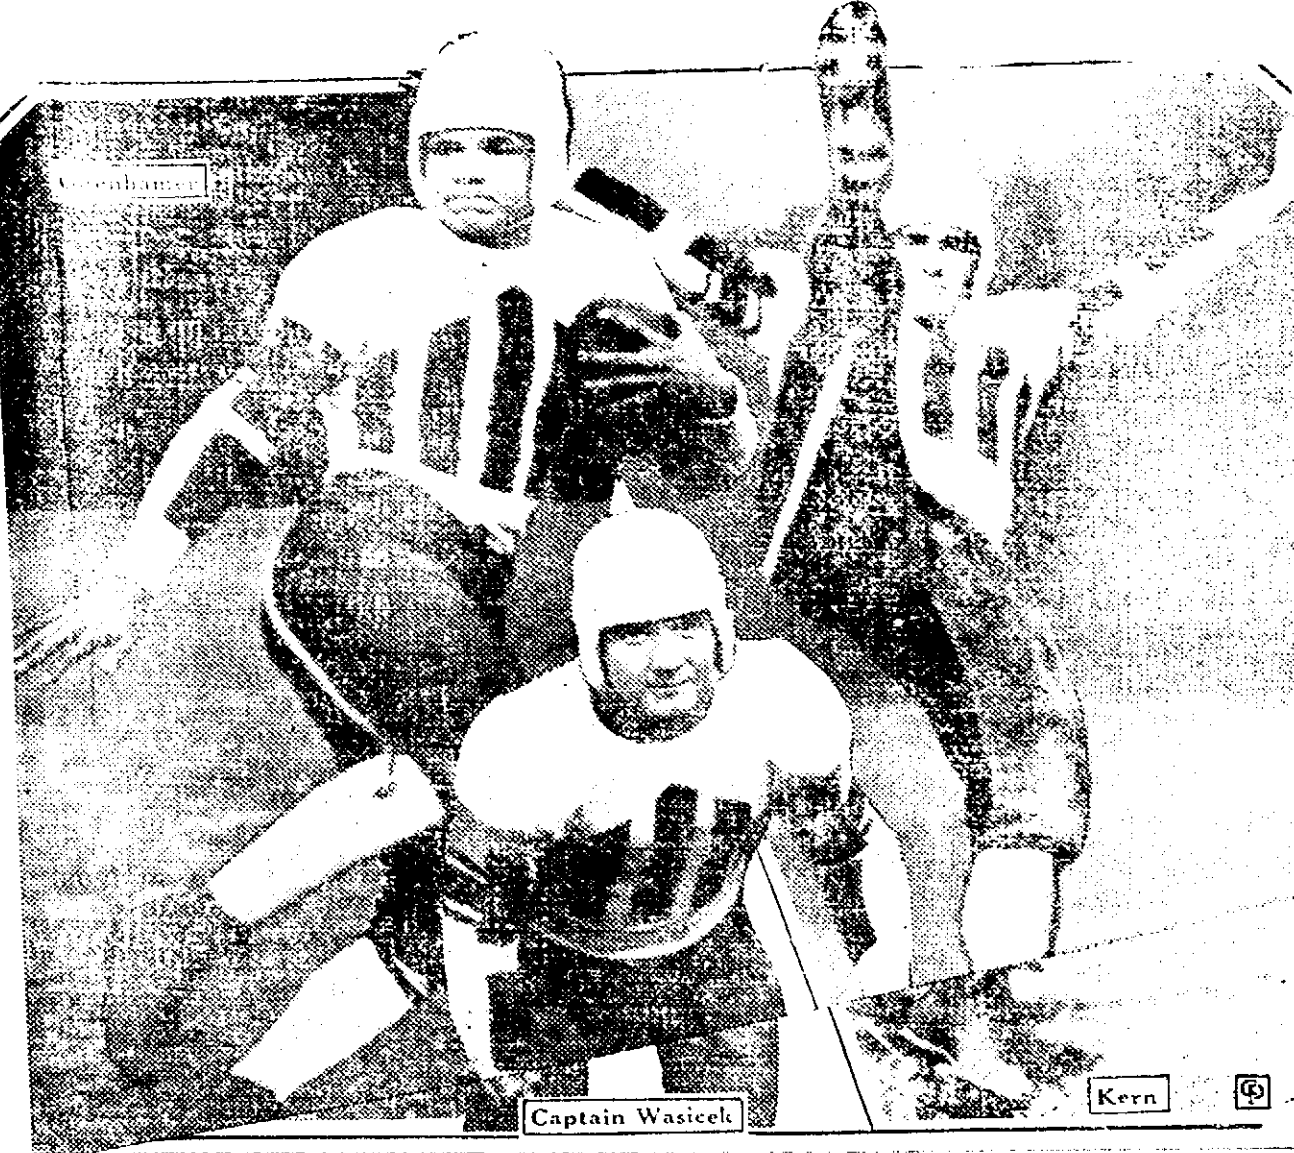

Though there are doubts here and there in the line, Colgate is strong at guard and tackle on both sides of the forward wall. Captain Charlie Wasieck, through whose position yardage gained by opponents last year was measured by inches, is in there again. At the other tackle, where Brooke used to contribute to the despondency of enemy linemen, is a 200-pound sophomore named Chesbro. The guards are Fortmann, one of the best in the east, and Davidson, great defensive man.

Billings and Wojack at ends and Pillsbury at center round out a team that observers expect to duplicate the performance of the noted "unbeaten, untied and uninvited" eleven of 1932, most successful eleven in the east that year, though Pitt received the bid to the Rose Bowl.

In Colgate first three games this year, the Red Raiders rolled up 73 points to none for Niagara, St. Lawrence and Amherst, and looked hopefully to the intersection battle Oct. 12 against University of Iowa at Iowa City.

SOPH STAR ELIGIBLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 11—The Minnesota Gophers, thirty-seven strong, left here last night for Omaha where they will workout today before going on to Lincoln where they will meet a formidable Nebraska team tomorrow. Coach Bernie Bierman, who is frankly pessimistic over Minnesota's chances of whipping the Cornhuskers, received a bit of good news when Victor Spadacini, brilliant sophomore fullback, was declared eligible and allowed to join the squad.

Scoff at Reports State to Close for Rest of Year

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—Circulation of highly fantastic stories throughout the Big Ten circuit to the effect that Ohio State university is on the verge of shutting down for lack of funds, thereby making probable the suspension of O. S. U. football activities in mid-season, today brought smiles to the lips of those persons here familiar with the real facts.

Bitter hostilities between Gov. Maclin L. Davey and President George W. Rightmire of the big state school growing out of an executive veto some months ago of $1,266,500 in the biennial budget of $7,155,600 allowed by the legislature, were used as the flimsy basis for the "scare" stories.

Davey lopped off certain essential items, such as the allowance for coal to heat the university, under the impression funds could be transferred from other budget items for these purposes but found the law forbade it.

Ohio State is reported to have only enough fuel to last 10 days, but the legislature is meeting in special session at the moment and only last night new allowances for essentials were written into a new appropriation bill by the finance committee.

IOWA BRUSHING UP

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 11—A light workout with a brush-up on Colgate's vaunted lateral attack will complete Iowa's preparations for tomorrow's game with the Red Raiders here. Dick Crayne who suffered a bruised foot in scrimmage early in the week, will be available tomorrow, team physicians said. The customers will workout on the Coe college field at Cedar Rapids tonight, and will not appear here until shortly before game time.

Veteran Turns Pro

After a quarter of a century of playing tennis for fun, Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, international tennis star, is turning professional. She will teach the game "for cash wages" on a chain circuit which includes a half dozen fashionable villages on the outskirts of Los Angeles.

MASSILLON'S GRID OUTFIT AFTER TITLE

Stark-co Tigers Have Chance to Upset Canton for Mythical State Honors

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—With Massillon's Fighting Tigers suddenly projected into the spotlight of favoritism for Canton McKinley's mythical state grid laurels, Ohio scholastic teams again "prepared for the ways" with few exceptional tilts slated for today.

Massillon, with a scoring record of 182 points in three games to place second in the state in that respect, rules as overwhelming favorites to dispose of Youngstown South in today's feature while a group of Springfield's Wildcats are scheduled to take on Portsmouth's Spartans in the Saturday headliner.

SANDUSKY UNBEATEN

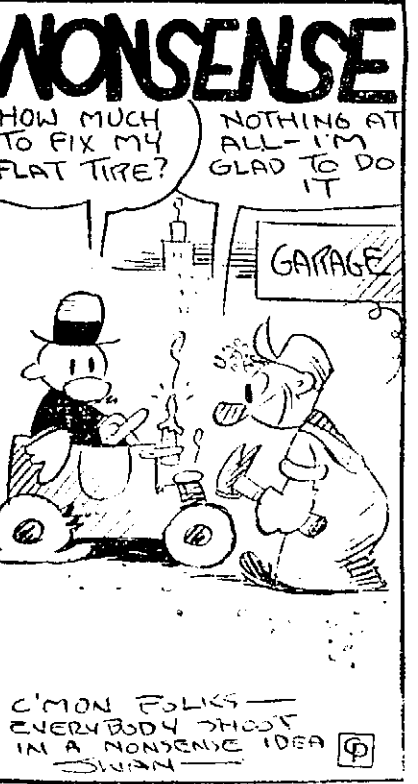

Sandusky, another undefeated rival for McKinley's honors, entertains Wooster's band of Little Generals in a game which should see the home forces extend their four game winning streak with a sizeable score to their credit. Massive point totals, one defeat largest to a on a strong Salem at what should be a close game. Liverpool's sole defeat to date was a 7-6 affair at the hands of New Philadelphia and they rule slight favorites over their up-state rivals.

Southeastern Ohio fans will flock to Pomeroy today to see stuff against the home lads. Despite the fact Pomeroy has not had a stiff battle yet this season they rule in the favored role.

Fireworks are also expected when Marietta and Cambridge collide on the former's gridiron. Cambridge is favored despite its flailing away from home as is Bellefontaine in its Class B headliner with Celina at the latter's field.

CHILICOTHE PLAYS

Other games today see Gallon trekking to Ashland with a victory in sight; Shelby at Bucyrus with the latter possessing both a strong team and a better record; Wilmington at Chillicothe in one of the "close" ones; Greenville slated to be smothered at Dayton Fairmont; Tiffin, Columbian favored over Findlay; Fostoria as underdogs once more in its tilt at Fremont; Wapakoneta ruling slight favorites over Van Wert on their own grounds; and Akron Buchtel favored to lose to North of the same city.

BROTHERHOOD HAS MEETING

Varied Program Presented by Lutheran Group; Next Meeting Oct. 31

The regular monthly meeting of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood was held Thursday evening in the parish house.

Meeting was opened with singing of hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", after which Rev. G. L. Troutman read the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, this being followed by the singing of another hymn, "My Faith Looks up to Thee."

The regular business session followed, after which Rev. Troutman talked on the progress of the Good Will Congressional meeting to be held on Nov. 6 and that the Ladies Society and Von Bora society will serve the banquet, the expense of which will be covered with a free will offering to be taken at that time.

J. D. Hunimel will act as toast-master of the occasion and Rev. William Sout, stewardship secretary of the American Lutheran church, will be the principal speaker. During the session the church budget for the year 1936 will be explained and subscriptions taken.

To cover the membership not in attendance on this occasion, an every member canvass will be made during the week following.

It was noted that there had been a change in the membership list, as George C. Colville, treasurer of the Pumpkin Show society, who gave an interesting talk on the coming show, explaining in detail the progress of the show. After completion of his talk, the meeting was thrown open for discussion. Mr. Colville had his subject so well in hand that he had no hesitancy in answering the many questions asked.

Carl C. Leist was next introduced and inspiring sang, "In the Gloaming", accompanied being played by Carl Leist.

Ned Dresbach, the local representative to the Scioto Valley Lutheran Convention to be held next Sunday at Groveport, gave the paper that he will present on that occasion on "Is it Hard to Be a Christian?"

Pres. Harry Bartholomew was next on the program and with his stunt on "Observation" proved to the entire audience that generally we are very poor observers.

The first regular meeting of November will be moved up to Oct. 31st, owing to the fact that the congregational banquet will fall during the regular week for brotherhood, with George C. Griffith in charge of the program that will pertain to Halloween.

At this meeting the first reading of nominees for office for year 1936 will be read.

DAVEY'S VETO

sand dollars and the general section of the committee today is expected to add its bit.

From the office of the governor came an unofficial warning today that Davey will not permit increases to mount over the $500,000 mark at the end of the year. John M. Carr, Davey's executive secretary, was busy conferring with Rep. Julian H. Schwab (D) of Port Jennings, chairman of the finance committee and other Democratic members of the group, presumably cautioning administration supporters against making too many increases.

The warnings of the governor, anxious to retain at least $500,000 of the votes in the original appropriations, failed to deter committee members from adding a few thousand to the state war department, Ohio State university and possibly other state colleges, the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia and the state utility commission.

Several loyal Davey backers are expected to vote against the new budget bill when it is completed in committee, but there are sufficient votes among the 25 members to assure its passage in committee, observers noted.

Republican members of the House indicated they would vote for the new measure, now only in tentative form, when it comes to the floor of the House. In addition, there are sufficient Democratic members willing to support the measure to guarantee sufficient votes for a three-fifths majority in the event Davey should disapprove the bill, several Democratic members predicted.

Rep. Robert Kaser (D), Sidney, urged an increase to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home and Rep. E. R. Wing (R) of McArthur, insisted on an increase of $33,000 to the state utilities commission to permit a state-wide survey of rural electrification needs.

Bowling Green, Kent, Miami and Ohio universities may get small increases under the new measure. Rep. Otis R. Johnson (R) Delta, chairman of the educational section, intimated.

GIRLS' KILLER FOUND SUICIDE

Pontiac, Mich. Jail Scene After Farmer Admits Drowning Stepchildren

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 11.—Deciding his own fate with the same cold-bloodedness which characterized the drowning-murders of his two unwanted stepdaughters, Fern Rowland, 36, "mate hungry" carpenter-farmer, today hanged himself in his Oakland-co jail cell.

The suicide came only a few minutes before he was to have been arraigned on first degree murder charges for the deaths of Katherine, 6, and Virginia, 2½, daughters of his wife by a former marriage.

It was the second time he had attempted to end his own life. He was restrained from shooting himself when he was captured in St. Louis Wednesday.

Rowland left two notes today, both disposing of property to his brother and his wife who is in jail at Harrison and faces further questioning as the result of being implicated in the plot by Rowland. He apparently had no thought for the two children whom Prosecutor Theodore Bowler declared he drowned "just as if they were unwelcome littens."

Bowler expressed belief Rowland had decided to commit suicide because of the prospect of separation from his wife and incarceration in a jail cell for life. He said "both love the outdoors and the children interfered with their hunting and fishing trips."

industries, maintain rigid control of industrial employment, and provide for training workers to replace those who may be mobilized for military service.

Many of these replacements, it was expected, will be women. This was Mussolini's first step in the progressive defense he plans against the league's progressive sanctions.

This was the "discipline" part of his policy declaration: "Economic measures we shall meet with discipline and obedience; military sanctions with military measures; and acts of war with acts of war."

Mussolini has consistently said that a naval blockade of Italy would be regarded as "an act of war."

At the same time, Mussolini made it clear that he is determined to go on with his military campaign.

Field Marshall Leaves This was shown by the departure of Field Marshall Pietro Badoglio for East Africa aboard the steamer Bannagum.

It is believed that Badoglio, who is chief of the Italian army general staff, will make a first hand investigation of the military situation, and report back to Mussolini. Against some surprise, and a few questions of "do they intend to starve us?" summed up the general Italian view of the league's sanctions.

"They will not forget these nations that moved against her," La Trium warned.

YOUTH ADMITS GIRL'S DEATH

Milkman's Son Says Monticello Girl Laughed at His Offer of Marriage

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The brutal garroting of pretty eighteen-year-old, Muriel Hall, Rochester society beauty, was solved here today.

Glenn Brasser, 20, son of a poor Rochester milkman, confessed he killed the girl in her father's apartment on Wednesday when she laughed at his offer of marriage.

His confession came forth a few hours after he was arrested late last night while driving his father's truck through Liberty, N. Y.

He fled from Rochester in the truck immediately after the slaying.

His arrest resulted after he had stopped at a gas station in Liberty and sped away without paying for a tank full of gasoline. "I couldn't live without her," state troopers quoted Brasser as saying.

"I choked her for ten minutes; then ran out of the house. She refused my offer of marriage. If I couldn't have her, I didn't want anybody else to."

"I was waiting for her in the apartment. When she came home from high school I asked her if she'd be my wife."

"She said she never wanted to see me again and laughed. We had a fearful argument. I got so angry I grabbed her and choked her. As soon as I realized what I had done, I knew I'd have to run away."

State Trooper William Leins, who took Brasser into custody, said the youth was questioned for several hours and that at first he maintained his innocence, but finally broke down and said he would make a complete confession.

This seems to be the season for panhandlers. Nearly every day a man, usually shabbily-dressed, walks up to you on the street and says: "Buddy, can you give me a little assistance?" or: "Could you give me a dime for a cup of coffee?"

The panhandlers follow the fairs and the shows, it seems, and those working here are bound for Lancaster this week and next week will be doing a wholesale business in Circleville.
